Deliver quality of life

As a health and social care professional you will know how competitive it is in today's market. Every care provider wants to stand out and be seen to offer the best quality of life.

High-quality facilities and stimulating daily activities are two key things that would-be residents and their families look for when choosing a retirement or care home.

Here at Solardome we specialise in providing increased light from glasshouses and skylights, helping you meet more objectives for high-quality care.

Our aluminium and toughened glass structures give users the benefits of being outdoors, whilst remaining safe warm and dry, indoors.

This is good because natural light and more outdoor activities lead to therapeutic benefits like relieving anxiety and improving sleep, for example.

Right now care homes and hospitals are using our cutting edge systems to help people enjoy fresh air, exercise and increased natural light. Even on cold and windy days.

You can choose from our standard commercial glasshouses, ranging from 3.5m-10m diameter, or our SOLARDOME® PRO bespoke system for dome buildings and skylights up to 25m diameter.

We give you the following benefits

- High-quality aluminium frame for strength
- Toughened glass for safety and durability
- Excellent ventilation and airflow for comfort
- Low maintenance for low lifetime cost
- Ten year guarantee for peace of mind

"...a definite achievement in creating a relaxing and therapeutic environment for people who use NHS services."

Sarah Waller, Programme Director for the King's Fund, Mandalay House - Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust

"...it has a beautiful shape, the lack of corners gives an expansive feeling like being in open space."
